6. Prospects

1. Current developments

- Pandemic: Travels are possible again, more applications are being received.
- University politics: A university-wide survey of the funding situation of doctoral students is currently underway.
- The presidium has established a strategy group on early career researchers.

1. Current developments

- Pandemic: Still no return to face-to-face; the situation next winter semester is not yet clear. Currently COVID-19 3-level-system: level 0
- University politics: Current survey on happiness of doctoral candidates at all grad schools
- New Research Training Group RTG 2636 Form-meaning mismatches

2. Qualification Programme

Review

The courses take place again mainly in presence. An English-language course on good scientific practice will take place in November.

Upcoming Courses (currently on summer break)

- Good scientific practice-Workshops (German: September 13; English: November 8)
- Online-Schreibgruppe (German), October and November

3. Alumni

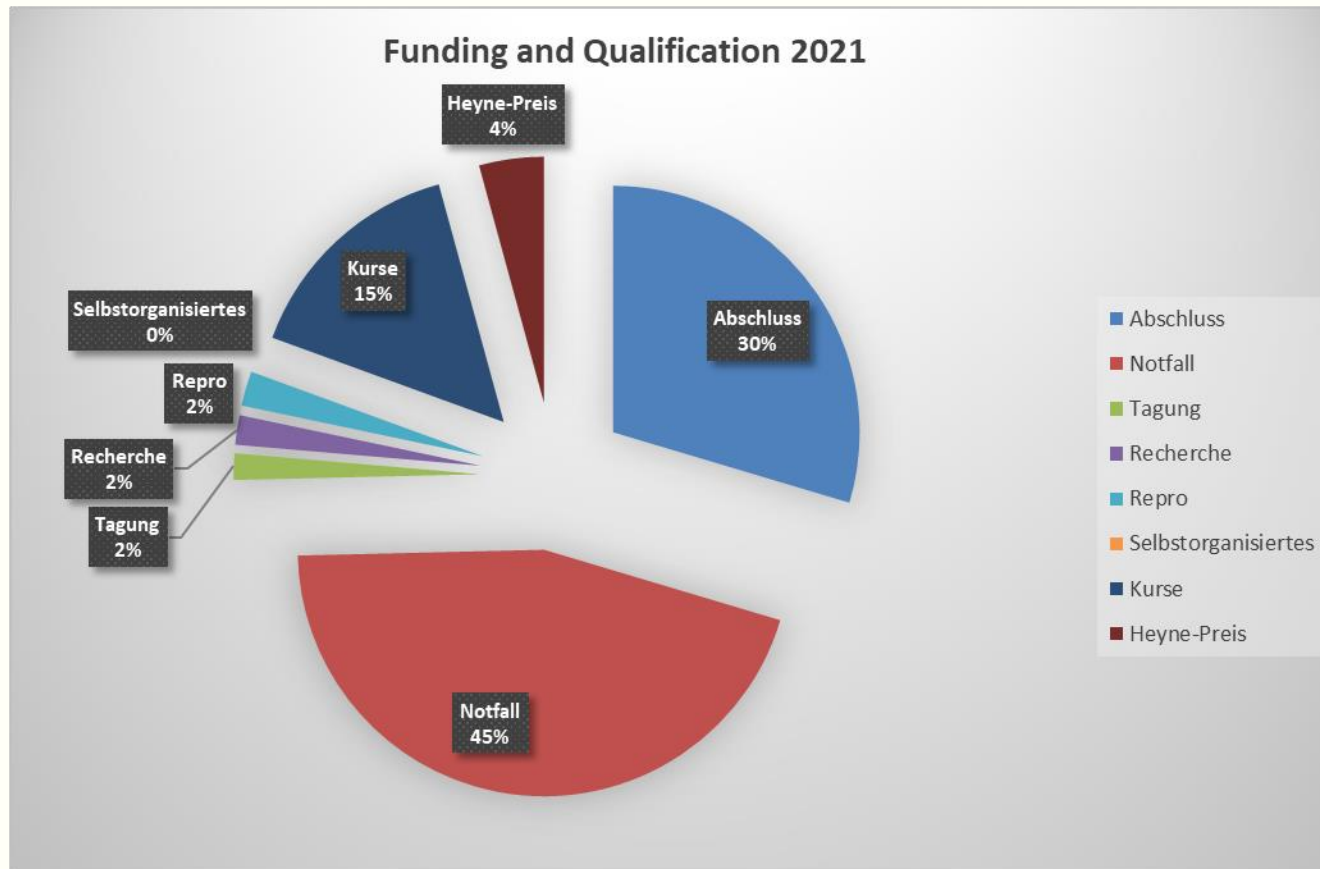

Events in the past year

On February 3, 2022, we hosted historian Christian Wachter, who is currently working as a research assistant at SMNG after completing his PhD in Medieval and Modern History. Christian reported mainly on his experiences in the transition from the final phase of the dissertation to the beginning of the postdoc phase.

Upcoming event

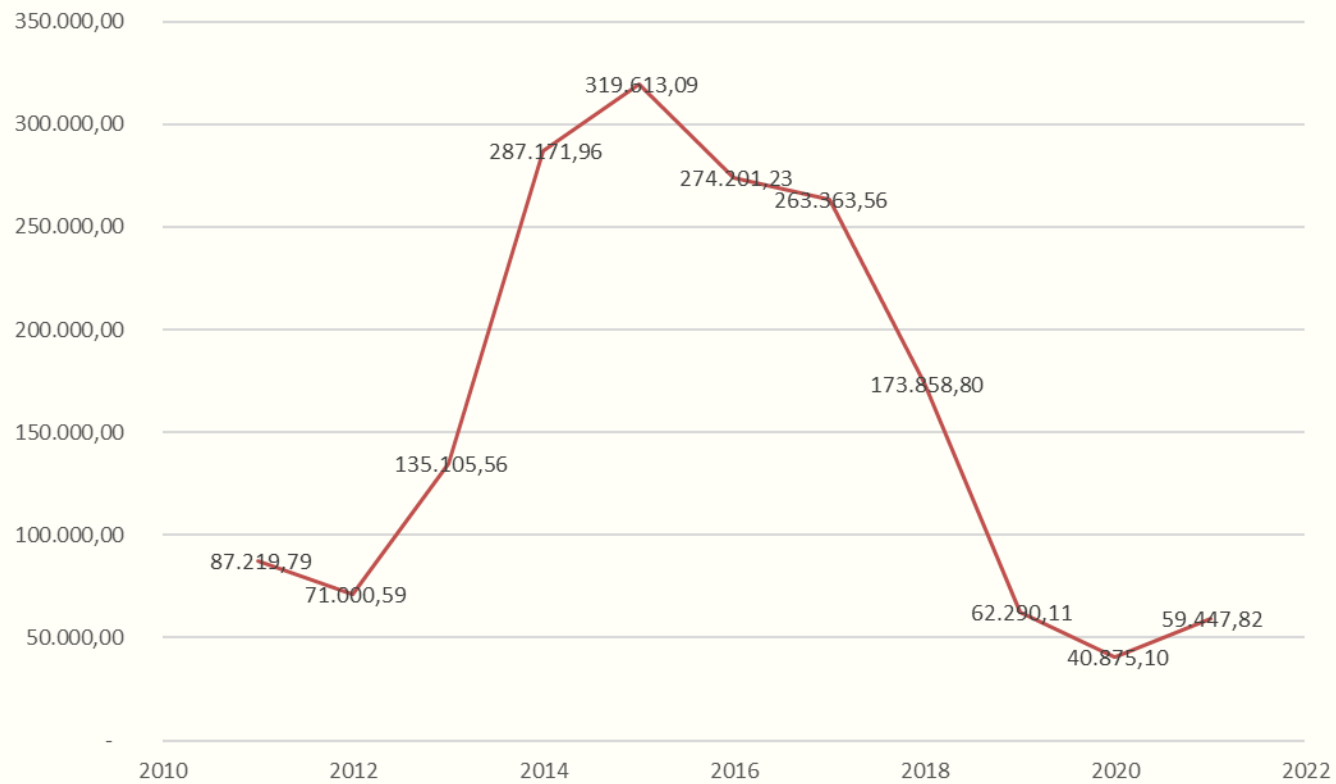

On July 6, 2022, we welcome the Germanist Kai Matuszkiewicz, who is currently a postdoctoral researcher and scientific coordinator of the media studies open access repository at the Institute for Media Studies at Philipps-Universität Marburg. He is also active as a journalist in various media.

4. Funding and Qualification

Funding and Qualification 2011-2021

5. GSGG Backstage

- Still ongoing: Establishing a modern technical infrastructure for all formal needs continues

6. Prospects

- In September, a day excursion will take place to the medieval town of Hannoversch-Münden. An English-language guided tour of the town will be offered on site.
- The day of the GSGG will take place on November 3, as every two years, members of the International Scientific Advisory Board will also be guests.

Thank you for your kind attention!
